Module Description

The purpose of this Thematic Unit is the student's familiarity initially with the historical development of environmental law, the legal foundation of environmental policy and the fundamental principles and objectives of energy law. The Module will involve the student in matters of substantive environmental law such as environmental liability, the provision of environmental information, water and air protection and waste management. Finally, the thematic unit will focus on the coupling of EU environmental law with energy and internal market issues, and on the key issue of transposition and implementation at national level.
